

Clio Key Art Awards call for entries

The Clio Key Art Awards are known as the original and definitive distinction in creative communications for the entertainment business, globally.

Having run since 1971, the Clio Key Art Awards fully became a Clio's property in 2015,

Staying true to its film industry origins of the past 54 years, the awards have expanded their range across movies, TV and gaming, with over 260 trophies awarded last year.

This year's Clio Key Art Awards have partnered with the Hollywood Reporter, and will be held at the Dolby Theatre in Los Angeles on 22 October.

Entries close on 19 June, so you have a few weeks to get your entries together.
