

Publiseer introduces services to South Africa

Publiseer founders Chidi and Chika Nwaogu got the name of their company from one of South Africa's 11 official languages - 'publiseer' means 'publish' in Afrikaans - so it is only fitting that it would introduce the country to its digital publishing services.

An additional perk to this expansion is that Publiseer's authors and musical artists from South Africa will get customer support via +27 64 396 8857; before creatives from South Africa only got support via email and chat messaging.

Publiseer publishes, protects, and monetises the creative works of writers and musicians from low-income communities in Africa. It has published 133 books and 518 tracks by 121 authors and 240 musicians to date.
