

The chic world of wine

www.winediva.co.za is a new blog aimed at South African women who want to explore and indulge in the variety of wine selections, tastes and styles that are readily available to consumers. "Many savvy South African women want to know more about wine in fun easy to consume snippets," says chief blogger, Caroline Lowings. "Pretense and snobbery aside, it's all about everyday interest and enjoyment of wine, one glass at a time."

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>