

Women photojournalists called to enter international competition

Since 2000, the Association des Femmes Journalistes and Canon France, in partnership with the international Visa pour l'Image festival, and with the support of Figaro magazine, have awarded an annual prize for women photojournalists. Women photojournalists worldwide are welcome to enter the competition, for which there is no age limit. The €8000 (about R81 000) award enables the winners to finance their projects and have their work exhibited at the festival in Perpignan and later in Paris at the Cosmos Gallery. Go to www.canonafjaward.com for more information.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>