

Flight Centre Travel Group gets two new national sales leaders

In line with its efforts to restructure its sales divisions, the Flight Centre Travel Group South Africa has selected two new national sales leaders. Mark Parry takes up the role of national sales leader for Flight Centre Business Travel (FCBT), while Samantha Wing becomes national sales leader corporate traveller.

As the first business development manager for FCBT, Parry helped launch and establish the brand in the South African travel market in 2012. Wing has worked for FCTG for the past eight years and brings with her in-depth knowledge and understanding of the corporate traveller business.
