

Signium Africa makes three new appointments

Signium Africa has appointed Kenny Mokoka as an independent non-executive director, Bafana Kubheka as an executive search consultant, and Karien Boshoff as a principal.

Mokoka joined the Signium Africa family on 1 January, bringing with him a wealth of business development and leadership experience.

Kubheka assumed his new position at the company on 1 March. He has over 20 years of executive and leadership experience across various sectors and regions in Africa.

Boshoff is a long-standing team member and has over the past decade played a critical role in ensuring the firm identifies high-quality candidates.
