

African supermodel to support Trace Foundation

The non-profit organisation, the Trace foundation, has partnered with African supermodel Joëlle Kayembe to provide sustainable youth development programmes to empower South Africa's youth.

Its most current project involves 21 year olds Masego Mlangeni and Gugu Masilela from Tembisa, Johannesburg, who have appealed to the Foundation to help them and other students in similar situations who cannot afford study materials. For more information, go to <http://trace.foundation>.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>