

DHL Radio Advert

Should people who make such bad adverts be subjected to public flogging?

The ad has Christopher Columbus "discovering" the New World, only to be greeted by A DHL delivery guy delivering his new "boat modor" in a bad American accent. The accents are terrible, the plot ridiculous, the rate of repetition on air truly astounding.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>