"I am very excited to be joining Averda, especially at this time when environmental sustainability for future generations is our collective responsibility. I'm also positively encouraged by the leadership South Africa is taking in advancing the vision of the United Nations Agenda 2030 for a better and sustainable future for all," said Tootla.

"South Africa's progressive waste management legislation in recent years, especially on hazardous waste, is a step in the right direction. In joining the Averda team, I am looking forward to making a difference by supporting the creation of a circular economy through eliminating waste and ensuring the continual use of resources.”
