The sneaker was unveiled earlier in September and the station has sold several sneakers already.

“We are proud as Thobela FM to launch a sneaker that resonates with our listeners. We saw it befitting to adopt the #ThobelaBomma in honour of women for the role they play in our society. We have over the past years seen growth of the youth and female audience and having a product that speaks to the two brands will position the station across the broadcast and lifestyle markets,” says Limpopo Combo business manager Madikana Matjila.
