

Cell C brings fibre to home

Cell C's commercial offerings of its Fibre-to-the-Home service, C-Fibre, are now available. The company partnered with Vumatel, open access fibre network operator, to bring uncapped fibre offerings to customers in the Vumatel footprint and is in discussion with other fibre providers to provide an end-to-end service to customers across the country.

fancycrave1 via pixabay

“In a world where content and technology are converging, customers are going to need high-speed and unrestricted access that will allow them to keep pace with their content consumption,” says Cell C CEO Jose Dos Santos.

C-Fibre forms part of Cell C's focused broadband strategy and commitment to bring the best-value fixed and mobile broadband services to the market.

“We are focussed on providing the best possible experience to our customers and will be developing our broadband strategy to ensure that customers receive the quality and value they have come to expect from Cell C,” says Dos Santos.

Cell C will make further announcements on partnerships with other fibre providers in the coming weeks.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>