

YouTube Super Chat donation feature arrives for South African streamers

By  Shereesa Moodley

15 Aug 2019

Have you always dreamed of having your thoughts and feelings seen by your favourite YouTubers?

Image credit: YouTube.

Well, YouTube on Tuesday expanded its Super Chats donations feature to 19 more countries, including South Africa.

This means that South Africans can now donate money to a YouTuber's live stream to have their comments highlighted for everyone to see.

During a live stream, viewers are prompted to purchase Super Chats of different values. The more you pay, the longer your messages are seen.

"Your Super Chat stays pinned in the ticker for a set period of time, depending on the amount selected," YouTube explained on its help blog.

According to a report by Android Police, the additional countries to receive Super Chats include Romania, Costa Rica, Bolivia and Uruguay.

ABOUT SHEREESA MOODLEY

Shereesa is a passionate writer who often delves into the world of social media, online trends and all things photography. She is also a journalism graduate of Rhodes University and can be found frequenting YouTube and Instagram. She lurks on Twitter too, sometimes.

- The Friends cast will get back together for HBO Max reunion special - 24 Feb 2020
- 2020 emoji will include pinched fingers, bubble tea and more gender-inclusivity - 30 Jan 2020
- Disney is removing 'Fox' from the production company's future branding - 20 Jan 2020
- Google's new 'My Storytime' platform helps families stay in touch - 28 Nov 2019
- South Africa 'cancels' Old Mutual after body arrives at offices for proof of death - 20 Nov 2019

View my profile and articles...

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>